Boston.... An American city like no other, Boston is a true original! Hip and historical; cool and hot!

Full of passion and pride regarding both their city and their sports teams, Bostonians revel at the chance to tell you how great their town is. The thing is, after you're there for a while, you'll tend to start agreeing with them! But this town has more to offer than world champion sports teams and the site of the world's best-known tea party. With over 16 million visitors per year, Boston ranks as one of the most visited cities in the United States.

As the capital of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Boston embodies a distinct European feel which is evident in the city's culture. The city's role in the American Revolution has led to the nickname, the "Cradle of Liberty." Groups will be amazed at all the sights showcasing historical wonders around every corner. Once considered ultra-conservative, Boston has developed a progressive culture and attitude with a wonderful blend of stylish sophistication and historic New England charm. Historical buildings, parks and cemeteries are national landmarks, and the city boasts the birthplaces of many famous patriots, presidents and politicians. The city's architectural treasures include lovely brownstones and cobblestone streets, and gas-lamps light the way in many neighborhoods.

Also referred to as the "Walking City", Boston is remarkably compact, all centered on the country's oldest public park, Boston Common. When it comes to nightlife, the modern-day Boston is home to several cafes, restaurants and historic pubs. Foodies can try local favorites, such as baked beans, cod and clam chowder. From amazing restaurants, to buzzing marketplaces and historical quaint, brownstone lined streets to big city entertainment, Boston lives up to its reputation as one of the most popular tourist destinations in the USA.

Did you know?

- ✓ Boston was the site of America's first metro system.
- ✓ Located near the financial district, Boston Common is the oldest public park in the United States.
- ✓ Boston is known as “the Athens of America,” a reference to the city’s more than 100 colleges and universities. The city of Boston has the unique distinction of being home to both the first public school and the first college in America.
- ✓ Why is Boston called Beantown? Here’s the story: When the Puritans arrived from England to Boston, they were forbidden to cook on the Sabbath. Church services often lasted 8-hours and were mandatory for all members of the community. When the congregants returned home they were often cold and hungry, so the solution was to put a pot of beans on the hearth on Saturday, with a piece of meat - usually salt pork, and a sauce of water and molasses to keep the beans from burning. This was the one hot meal that children could serve to themselves while the adults remained at the services. Children were generally required to be at services from morning until 2PM and adults remained until 4 or 5 in the afternoon. Those that failed to attend church services were put in cages on Boston Common where they did penance equivalent to the time they missed in church. Family members could bring other family members a hot meal and because it was easy to transport it was often the pot of Boston baked beans. After being on the hearth for more than a day, the molasses became thick and fortified the congregants on the cold days.
- ✓ St. Patrick's Day was first celebrated in North America in 1737, in Boston. In modern times, Boston expects 600,000 revelers on the celebratory day.
- ✓ Boston is reported to have more Irish descendants than the country of Ireland.
- ✓ Ever wonder how Fig Newton’s got their name? They were named after Newton, Massachusetts, a suburb of Boston.
- ✓ Boston’s best-known dishes are clam chowder, fish and chips, baked beans, lobster, steamed clams, and fried clams.

Later, we’ll board our motorcoach, grab a quick lunch en route, and carry on to the seashore on Cape Cod! Full speed ahead to the Salt Pond Visitors Center.

The Cape Cod National Seashore - Cape Cod is a large peninsula extending 60 miles into the Atlantic Ocean from the coast of Massachusetts. Located on the outer portion of the Cape, Cape Cod National Seashore’s 44,600 acres encompass a rich mosaic of marine, estuarine, fresh water, and terrestrial ecosystems. These systems and their associated habitats reflect the Cape’s glacial origin, dynamic natural processes, and at least 9,000 years of human activity. Geomorphic shoreline change, ground water fluctuations, tidal dynamics including rising sea level, and atmospheric deposition are among the many physical processes that continue to shape the Seashore’s ecosystems. Marine and estuarine systems include beaches, sand spits, tidal flats, salt marshes, and soft-bottom benthos. Freshwater ecosystems include kettle ponds, vernal pools, sphagnum bogs, and swamps. Terrestrial systems include pitch pine and scrub oak forests, heathlands, dunes, and sandplain grasslands. Many of these habitats are globally uncommon and the species that occupy them are correspondingly rare.

Over 450 species of amphibians, reptiles, fish, birds, and mammals, and a myriad of invertebrate animals, depend on the diversity of upland, wetland, and coastal habitats found at Cape Cod National Seashore. Depending on the species, the park may provide habitat year-round, or only during nesting season, migration, or the winter time. Park wildlife includes marine mammals and turtles, the familiar gulls, terns, and water birds of beaches and salt marshes, and a great variety of animals that inhabit the park’s woodlands, heathlands, grasslands, swamps, marshes, and vernal ponds. Twenty-five federally protected species occur in the park, most prominently the threatened piping plover. The Seashore is a significant site for this species with roughly 5% of the entire Atlantic coast population nesting here. Cape Cod National Seashore also supports 32 species that are rare or endangered in the state of Massachusetts. Some of these, such as the common tern, are conspicuous; far less noticeable is the elusive spadefoot toad which spends most its life buried in the sand, emerging only on warm nights with torrential rainfall.

The Salt Pond Visitors Center on Cape Cod National Seashore – The Salt Pond Visitor Center is Cape Cod National Seashore's main visitor facility providing orientation movies, a well-stocked bookstore, and a comprehensive museum. The indoor theatre routinely offers 5 short films daily on a rotating schedule. Offering breathtaking views of Nauset Marsh and the Atlantic beyond, this Visitor Center is also convenient to the popular 1.5-mile Nauset Marsh Trail and the Buttonbush Trail.

The museum collection at Salt Pond reflects the vast range of natural and cultural themes represented on Cape Cod. Quotes highlight themes that the museum's exhibits encompass, along with artwork from prominent artists. In the atrium, the museum offers highlights of the Cape's complex natural composition. Realistic models of native plants and mounted animal specimens emphasize the rich and diverse natural history of the Outer Cape. Displays cover salt marsh plants and animals, beach dynamics, upland plant communities and prominent residential and migratory birds.

Guided Ranger Hike - Upon arrival, we'll meet with a specialty Ranger for a guided walk through the trails.

The Sands of Time – After our hike, we'll settle in for a movie to learn about how the Cape was created by glaciers. The Sands of Time showcases the formation of Cape Cod by the ice, wind, and waves and describes the processes that continue to shape the Cape today.

The Whaling Museum – After our movie, we'll have time to explore the Whaling Museum at the Visitor's Center.

In the late afternoon we'll make our way to our hotel. We will have dinner either at our hotel or locally and then have free time to relax, take a quiz, have a scavenger hunt, or enjoy a pool!

Day 5

Breakfast & dinner

Good morning Cape Cod! After breakfast at our hotel, we'll transfer to the Cape Cod Natural History Museum for a morning hike with a Naturalist.

Cape Cod Museum of Natural History – The Cape Cod Museum of Natural History in Brewster, Massachusetts was founded in 1954 to encourage and advance understanding of the natural environment through discovery and learning. The museum is housed in a 17,000 square foot building on its own 80-acre site and abutted by 320 acres of land. In addition to the Natural History exhibits, the Museum also has a library and Museum Shop. Three nature trails meander through woodland, salt marsh or on the shore of Cape Cod Bay and guided field walks are offered year-round.

Marsh Hike - Groups will embark on a special 2-hour hike to explore the marshes with a Naturalist. (If weather is poor, an indoor program may be substituted.)

helps you to discover the finer points of beach ecology. The dunes of Cape Cod are constantly shifting and are extremely fragile. The dune tours are about teaching people about how the dunes move, how fragile they are, the diversity of life living in the dunes and more. Enjoy!

After our Dune tour, we'll make camp at the beach for a bonfire and cook-out! Later in the evening we'll return to our hotel for some free time and a good night's sleep.

Day 6

Breakfast & dinner

Good morning Cape Cod! After breakfast in our hotel we will start our day of adventure. This is a special day as we'll embark on a journey to Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute, one of the leading marine research facilities in the world!

Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution – Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution is the world's largest private, non-profit ocean research, engineering and education organization. Dedicated to research and higher education at the frontiers of ocean science, the institution is comprised of five Research Departments including Applied Ocean Physics & Engineering, Biology, Geology & Geophysics, Marine Chemistry & Geochemistry, and Physical Oceanography. The facility houses four individual institutes including the Coastal Ocean Institute, the Deep Ocean Exploration Institute, the Ocean & Climate Change Institute, and the Ocean Life Institute. In addition, the Institution houses a wide range of laboratories, programs and other entities all to serve our quest of knowledge in ocean life, ecology and biology.

Upon arrival, we will meet a Woods Hole docent and begin to explore the main Institution. Afterwards, we're off to board the Ocean Quest Discovery!

Ocean Quest Discovery Cruise - The Discovery Cruise is an introduction to the major disciplines within oceanography aboard a fully equipped research vessel. Students gain a better understanding that all life on Earth is interconnected and in the total scheme of existence, without our seas, life as we know it could not exist. It is the OceanQuest mission to open eyes to the wonders of science through hands-on learning experiences. The Discovery Cruise gives students tools to make well-informed decisions that will ensure a healthy sustainable ocean. During the 2-hour cruise students are actively involved manipulating equipment, collecting data, and discovering the wonder of ocean sciences. Time during the cruise is divided among three stations. Students are given the appropriate data sheet for their work and everyone actively participates during this mini-ocean research voyage. Teachers can use the data collected in follow-up sessions and in the future OceanQuest will use the data to compile a baseline database for classroom and research use. The student data will show trends in fish populations, seasonal plankton abundance, temperature and salinity variances, and other basic oceanographic details from the study area.

At the stern of the vessel, student work focuses on the biology of the study area. The group sets out a plankton net to capture various species of plankton. They may observe the setting of a bottom dredge or otter trawl that is towed along the sea floor to capture organisms that live near or on the bottom. Lobster traps are used as a benign method of sampling bottom dwelling organisms. The group observes and handles sea life and makes observations about the diversity or lack thereof in the study area.

On the bow students use the instruments and equipment necessary to study physical and meteorological oceanography. A Van Dorn water sampler collects the water the students use to determine water temperature, density and salinity. This data leads the group toward discovering thermoclines and salinity gradients. A Secchi disk is used to determine clarity and a Forel/Ule scale is used to determine the color of the water.

In the cabin the group explores the chemistry of seawater. The students determine dissolved oxygen and carbon dioxide, pH, and salinity. These are the basic chemical parameters that affect the quality and diversity of life.

After our fabulous morning, we'll have lunch on our own and then get ready for a Lab Workshop!

Woods Hole Marine Biology Workshop – The Wood Hole Lab Classes are developed for the specific student age and interest. Instructors often work with the data taken on the Ocean Quest Cruise and the samples collected which will vary dependent upon seasonality. As an example, groups may work with a count of the phytoplankton found in the water samples and the density of the algae needed to sustain a whale. Approximately 1.5-hours.

After our Lab Workshop, we'll have free time to explore the Woods Hole Ocean Science Center.

Woods Hole Ocean Science Center - Visitors to the Ocean Science Exhibit Center will learn about the Institution's ocean science research and the vessels and tools developed by WHOI engineers and scientists for use in that research. Short videos provide an introduction to WHOI, show a day in the life of the deep submersible Alvin, and highlight the 1985-1986 discovery and exploration of the wreck of the Titanic. Visitors can step inside a full-size model of the inner sphere of Alvin and imagine life at the ocean floor while watching vivid footage taken at deep-sea hydrothermal vent sites. Other exhibits and videos feature the life forms and natural processes of the deep sea.

After our full day of Marine Biology and Oceanography, we'll depart Woods Hole for a dinner stop before arriving at our hotel to enjoy the rest of the evening.

Day 7
